

Predicting effects of climate change and thinning on growth, health and water yield of jarrah and karri stands using individual-based modelling